

Calphalon Serrated Spatula

Calphalon is a leading manufacturer of professional, quality cookware, cutlery, bakeware, kitchen electrics and accessories for the home cook. Based in Atlanta, GA, Calphalon is a part of Newell Rubbermaid's global portfolio of leading brands.

This spatula is smartly designed with a unique serrated edge to cut food, and the low-profile head is angled to slide under food for easy turning. Crafted with heat-resistant soft-touch silicone accents, this utensil gives you a perfect balance of comfort and control. Dishwasher safe, heat resistant to 400°F, and won't scratch nonstick cookware. Full lifetime warranty!

Tips

Like two tools in one! Whether you call it a turner or a spatula, the angle of this handy tool is perfect for flipping and the serrated edge allows you to make a little cut easily to check on doneness as you're cooking (as shown above checking on an Italian pork sausage where thoroughly cooking is integral). This multipurpose tool also works great for cutting an inconsistently chopped ingredient such as a piece of potato while cooking.

There are so many uses and the best part is that you can use it with all your non-stick cookware. It's made of nylon with soft-touch silicone accents to let you do your job without scratching your nonstick surfaces. Dishwasher safe and heat resistant to 400 degrees, the Calphalon Serrated Spatula comes with a full lifetime warranty.
